

As we approach the end of this half term, I wanted to take a moment to reflect on the wonderful activities and events that have taken place across our academy this week.

Our final week has been buzzing with excitement and learning. One of the highlights was the Hands-On Science Workshops that engaged children from all year groups. These workshops provided an interactive and fun way for our children to delve into various scientific concepts, fostering a love for discovery and experimentation.

In addition to the science workshops, our Year 2 and Year 3 children had an exhilarating time during their Laser Tag enrichment morning held in the school hall. It was a joy to see the children working together, strategising, and enjoying themselves in a physically active and mentally stimulating environment.

For our Year 6 children, we celebrated the completion of their SATs with a well-deserved breakfast treat. The cooked breakfast was a small token of our appreciation for their hard work and dedication throughout the exam period. It was wonderful to see them relax and enjoy this special meal together, marking the end of an intense period of study and assessment.

Our Tiny Twos had a delightful Stay and Play session on Friday morning. It was heart-warming to see our youngest learners explore and interact in a nurturing and playful setting, laying the foundation for their future learning experiences.

As we head into the half-term break, I want to extend my heartfelt thanks to all of you for your unwavering support throughout this term. Your involvement and encouragement are invaluable to our children's' success and well-being.

I wish you all a restful and enjoyable half-term break. We look forward to welcoming everyone back, refreshed and ready for the second half of the term.

Have a lovely half-term!

Warm regards,

Mrs M Lathbury-Cox
